

1000 Islands Dive

Join us on July 13-15 for a weekend of diving in the beautiful 1000 Islands region.

The clear waters of the St. Lawrence River in the Thousand Islands region are known for their many well-preserved shipwrecks, some dating back to the late 1700s. This is world class, fresh water wreck diving! The trip is open to intermediate level divers and above. Non-divers are welcome as well.

Accommodations: We will be staying at the Caigers Resort on the Canadian side of the river. This family run resort not only offers a convenient location to the many shipwrecks of the Thousand Islands, but has amenities such as a swimming pool, restaurant, and an upper deck bar with impressive river views.

Dive Operator: Thousand Islands Pleasure Divers is the on-site dive operation and the leading dive operator in the region. With five boats, they offer dives to the best of the regions' shipwrecks.

Non-Diving Excursions: There is plenty to do in the region for non-divers. The spectacular Boldt and Singer Castles are nearby, and the resort offers fishing and scenic boat tours. The town of Brockville, Ontario is a quaint town to browse and shop, and the 1000 Islands OLG Charity Casino is close by.

Package price of $650 per person/dbl.occ. includes:

- 3 days of diving (8 dives total)
- 3 nights of accommodations
- Resort taxes and fees
- Does not include transportation, equipment, air fills, tips, or meals

$885 diver/single room

$260 non-diver

*please note: the dive operation may impose a fuel surcharge of up to $100 per person, depending on fuel costs at the time of the trip
